WELL DEFINED MOVE TO END COAL STRIKE STARTS

OPERATORS ARE RESTIVE UNDER MARKET LOSSES

Passage of Business Into Non-Union Fields Worries Some.

OFFICIALS NOT SEEN

Belief Prevails That Agreement On Issue Will Be Made.

Cleveland, June 16.—Although no official of the Pittsburgh Veil Operators Association, representing mines in three eastern Ohio counties, and employing normally about 18,000 men, could be found today to stand sponsor for any statement that a movement was under way to end the nation-wide coal strike which has been in effect since April 1, the fact is generally known that a well-defined movement towards peace has already been taken and that results of these pourparlers may be expected within the next week or ten days.

Operators in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, are becoming extremely restive as they see their markets passing into the hands of the non-union operators of West Virginia and Kentucky and they have recognized all along that at some time they must sit down at the council table with the labor leaders and negotiate a new scale.

Among the operators, however, there are two groups that are generally recognized as standing out against peace. These are the operators in the southern Ohio coal fields, generally known as the Hooking field and the owners of the mines in the Pittsburgh district. However, it is not believed that either operators in the central competitive field will permit these men to halt the peace moves, and officials of the United Mine Workers are known to be willing to treat with any body of employers that represents sufficient tonnage to make a scale that can be considered basic.

PREDICT RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY MELLON

Washington, June 16.—The "forced resignation" of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, "within a few weeks" was predicted in the senate today by Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas.

EXTEND TIME

The time for the payment of taxes has been extended until July 30, thirty days extra, according to the announcement of County Commissioners, Friday.

WORD "OBEY" STILL REMAINS

London, June 16.—The Episcopal Church committee headed by the Bishop of Gloucester which has been studying the marriage service today recommended that it be revised to exclude some of the crude forms, but the word "obey" will remain in the new ritual.

DRAFT OF IRISH CONSTITUTION PLACES IRELAND ON SAME BASIS AS CANADA

Force of Law Given to Anglo-Irish Treaty by Document
Provisions of Which Are Announced
Thursday Night.

London, June 16.—The draft of the new Irish constitution, made public last night on the eve of the Irish elections, gives, as the document states, force of law to the Anglo-Irish treaty.

It declares that any provision of the constitution or any amendment thereto, or any law enacted, under the constitution, which is in any respect repugnant to the treaty, shall be void and inoperative.

The constitution thus embodies connection with the British crown, as already established in the treaty and generally places the relations between Ireland and the empire on the same basis as Canada and the other dominions.

The constitution requires every member of the Free State parliament to subscribe faith and allegiance to the constitution and swear to be faithful to the king in virtue of the common citizenship of Ireland and Great Britain and Ireland's membership in the British commonwealth of nations.

CROW REGRETS HIS ACT, WONT TALK

Cincinnati, June 16.—Outraged at the color scheme of two dozen painted finches which were put in a cage next to the one he occupied ever since he came to the Cincinnati Zoo, Jim, the talking crow, bit off the head of one of the new neighbors today when it fluttered unwarily his way. Apparently he resented the bright blue head, green wings and red breast of the finch, but regretted his act immediately. Since the tragedy he will neither talk, eat nor be consoled.

PROPERTY OWNERS ASK IMPROVEMENTS IN DODDS ADDITION

A petition signed by property owners in the Dodds addition asking for the extension of both water and sewer lines, in that section, was presented to the City Commission at the special meeting held Thursday night. The commission instructed City Manager Hale and the city engineer to prepare cost estimates of putting in both kinds of service, and to present them at the next meeting. Whether the work will be carried out or not will probably depend on the cost of the improvements, but it is believed that agitation on the part of lot owners in the section may develop in the city putting the improvements in.

The Union Street paving question was again presented to the commissioners by property owners on that street, Thursday night, without further results. Property owners on the south side of the street contend that the paving is being put in closer to the south side of the street, than to the north side, leaving no parking space on the south side of the street, between the curb and sidewalk, while the parking space on the north side is ample.

George Geyer, who owns the property at Galloway and West streets, claims that the street curves at his property. He told Thursday night that if property owners on the street agree to pave the street 20-feet wide instead of 21-feet that the curve can be eliminated. City Manager Hale Friday morning made a survey on the street to see if property owners would approve of this plan.

The commissioners hold that the law permits a street to be located at any point, and it also holds, the city liable for property damage. It is contended that the city might be liable for the destruction of trees and curbing on the north side of the street, if the paving is moved to provide equal parking space on each side. It is thought that property owners on the south side of the street, headed by Mr. Geyer, may make a test case of the action and enjoin the paving until it is decided. For that reason the paving work has shifted to other streets so that all will be finished before the paving starts on Union street in anticipation of a tie-up if the work is enjoined.

DAYTON MAN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 16.—Maurice Atkinson, treasurer of the Senior Literary class of university of Michigan was killed here today in an automobile accident. His companion, James Bowers, of Dayton, O., driver of the car was injured. Atkinson's home is in Battle Creek, Mich.

MURDER CHARGED TO SHOWMAN'S WIFE

Mrs. Doris Brunen, widow of John T. Brunen, owner of the "Mighty Doris and Colonel Ferrar Show," has been arrested, charged with complicity in his murder. Brunen was shot to death through a window of his home at Riverside, N. J., on March 10. Charles M. Mohr, his brother-in-law, and Charles M. Powell, who was once connected with Brunen's shows, were already under arrest. Powell is said now to have confessed he killed Brunen at the instigation of Mohr.

Bitter Struggle Expected In Senate Over Bonus

Refusal of McCumber to Accede to Expressed Desire of Harding That Tariff Not Be Displaced Likely To Lead to Lively Row.

Washington, June 16.—A bitter struggle between Republican senators today appeared to be the inevitable outcome of the refusal of Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee to accede to the expressed desire of President Harding that the tariff not be displaced for the soldiers' bonus bill.

Even administration spokesmen conceded that before the expected fight was over the president's party leadership and his ability to influence the senate majority to carry out his wishes would probably be put to a severe test. Some administration leaders threatened openly if McCumber persisted in carrying out his plan to sidetrack the tariff, and force the passage of a bonus bill, the president is strongly inclined to veto whatever bonus legislation was finally submitted to him for his approval.

Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, was among the supporters of McCumber on the Republican side who predicted the motion, McCumber planned to make Monday to set aside the tariff for the bonus would be certain to follow.

Other Republican senators who favor the bonus declared they were not talking seriously the threat of a filibuster emanating from some of their colleagues. They pointed out a number of the bonus foes are too desirous for the enactment of the tariff to permit it to be delayed indefinitely by protracted discussion of the bonus.

SHIP SUBSIDY BILL HAS NO PROVISION ENDING LIQUOR SALE

Washington, June 16.—The house merchant marine committee this afternoon voted to make a favorable report to the house on the administration's ship subsidy bill, thereby complying with the demand of President Harding for prompt action on the legislation.

In the form finally agreed upon by the committee for presentation to the house, the ship subsidy bill, will contain no provision prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquor on vessels operated by the United States shipping board.

The committee flatly rejected the amendment of Rep. Bankhead, Democrat of Alabama, to bar ships which carry liquor from the benefits of the subsidy, and Rep. Edmonds, Republican of Pennsylvania, temporarily withdrew his amendment imposing penalties on ships which brought liquor within the three mile limit.

The vote was nine to four to report the bill, the committee splitting on straight party lines.

BOY PAINFULLY HURT WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

Robert Terrill, aged 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Terrill of Center Street, received the fracture of his right leg between the knee and ankle and was severely bruised, when he was struck by east bound Pennsylvania passenger train, No. 914, Friday afternoon about three o'clock, between Church Street and Towler road.

The lad is not thought seriously injured by physicians of the Espey Hospital, where he was removed following the accident.

It was thought the boy became confused by the approach of two trains, one on the C. H. and D. track, and on the Pennsylvania lines. James Smith of Xenia, was the engineer of the train that struck the lad.

Irish Free State Engaged In Conducting Election

and Griffith Indicating Opposition to New Constitution.

Dublin, June 16.—The Irish free state is engaged today in the double task of conducting its first free election and scrutinizing the new Irish constitution granting Ireland more political liberty than any other British dominion.

SERIOUS SITUATION DEVELOPS FRIDAY IN CHINA TROUBLE

Demand Portuguese Make Apology for Recent Alleged Attacks

Canton, China June 16.—The foreign office of the republic of south China today sent a demand to Macao that the Portuguese government send a delegate to this city, accompanied by the Portuguese governor general at Macao, to apologize for recent attacks by Portuguese upon Chinese.

A serious situation has developed at Macao. The Chinese demand furthermore that the Portuguese soldiers and police responsible for attacks against the Chinese be publicly punished, and that financial compensation be given to the families of the dead Chinese.

The Chinese insist that all the African soldiers employed by the Portuguese be deported. On May 20, Chinese workmen attacked a group of Portuguese soldiers who were abusing a young Chinese girl. The Chinese were arrested by the Portuguese police. A deputation of labor union men that were trying to interview the Portuguese governor general were fired upon and three were killed. On May 29, a Portuguese gunboat arrived at Macao. Subsequently fighting broke out and 38 Chinese workers are reported to have been killed.

STINNES VISITOR AT THE HAGUE AS PRIVATE CITIZEN

Trip In Connection With Great Business Deals
Now Pending

The Hague, June 16.—Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate and multi-millionaire, has paid a flying visit to The Hague in connection with the Russian reconstruction conference which is under way here, it was learned this afternoon.

It is understood that the visit referred to great business deals which are pending. Herr Stinnes came not as a representative of the German government, but as a private citizen. He has no official status. Even his chief newspaper, the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, has severed its semi-official connection with the government.

Herr Stinnes arrived late Tuesday and departed after a stay of a few hours.

News that Stinnes had come and departed caused a sensation. The German industrial magnate has been visiting London since his ill-fated London visit, believing that his hour has struck to take a decisive hand in the affairs of Germany and Europe.

ASK INDEPENDENCE FOR PHILIPPINES

Washington, June 16.—Declaring that the Filipino people have "fulfilled their part in the covenant with America," a commission headed by Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, will present to President Harding a demand for "immediate, complete and absolute" independence for the Philippine Islands, tomorrow.

"The people of the Philippines yearn to see the fulfillment of their aspirations for national existence," the committee said. "We come in the full expectation that America can not now refuse specific realization of those purposes and ideals which found eloquent expression in her spokesmen both in times of war and in time of peaceful reconstruction."

The desire of the Filipinos for independence, the Mission stated, "is born of ingratitude toward the United States nor does it show lack of appreciation of the risks of international life."

SPEED UP WORK OF CASTING OF STRIKE VOTES

Delegates to Cincinnati
Convention No Longer
Doubt Probability

MEN HOLD DECISION

Dissolution of Rail Labor
Board and Restoration of Wages Only Plan

Convention Hall, Cincinnati, O., June 16.—Labor, represented in the American Federation of Labor convention here, today accepted as inevitable, a strike of union railroad employees some time in July. Doubt, which has existed among many delegates in convention attendance, today stood brushed aside by this declaration and the assertion that a strike appears the only means of combatting the railroad labor board's wage cuts of over $10,000,000.

Already railroad workers throughout the country have speeded up the casting of the strike vote. Early returns indicate an overwhelming majority in favor of the strike. B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad employees department of the American Federation of Labor and other rail union heads stand authority for that statement.

Highest officials in the labor movement in the country take the admitted position that there can be no peace while the railroad labor board is operative.

Decision to strike is entirely in the hands of the 2,000,000 railroad workers. Another week and it is expected tabulation of the strike vote will begin. There is no doubt among rail union leaders that the vote will demand a strike.

Dissolution of the railroad labor board and restoration of wages to the level before the recent slashes were made might prove to be the only alternative of averting a tie up, leaders assert.

While union officials have declared they are maintaining a "hands off" policy, so far as influencing the coming vote is concerned, this is their publicly admitted stand.

"The railroad board has made a blunder so serious as to threaten the welfare of hundreds of thousands of railroad employees and their families. We must act to correct this blunder before society suffers from the results."

"We will, therefore, sanction a strike in case the required majority of our membership vote in favor of taking this step in defense of their families."

The contemplated strike, they contend, becomes a necessary move for "self preservation."

Federation convention officials are giving deep consideration to the possibility of a railroad strike and the necessity of all branches of organized labor endorsing and aiding the proposed tie-up.

WEST POINT CADET KILLED BY TRAIN

Allaire, N. J., June 16.—Jerome Stewart, a cadet at the United States military academy at West Point, was instantly killed this afternoon when his automobile was run down by a Pennsylvania railroad train on a grade crossing near Allaire. A woman companion saved herself by jumping from the car.

The first report from the scene of the accident said that ten persons were believed to have been killed.

The locomotive which was traveling at nearly 60 miles an hour, was derailed and turned over on its side. Four passenger cars also were derailed but remained upright.

FIRE SWEEPS HEART OF SUMMER RESORT ON LONG ISLAND; 20,000 ARE HOMELESS

Blackened Ruins, All That is Left of Arverne, L. I. After Devastating Blaze Lays Waste Large Section
Thursday Night

New York, June 16.—Blackened ruins resembling a devastated area on a battle swept field is all that is left today of three quarters of Arverne, Long Island, one of the largest summer resorts around New York.

Flames that swept rapidly through the heart of the colony last night, annihilated thirty blocks of bungalows, of approximately 450 homes and making 20,000 people temporarily homeless. Property damage is estimated at about $5,000,000.

Sensational rescues featured the efforts of the fireman from three boroughs to save the residents in the stricken section. About twenty women were removed to hospitals. None, however, is believed to be seriously injured.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Soldiers were ordered to the scene with orders to shoot those who might attempt to loot.

EMPLOY FARMER AT T. B. HOSPITAL NEAR SPRINGFIELD

A farmer has been employed to cultivate the farm at the District Tuberculosis Hospital, Springfield, it was learned following an impromptu meeting of three members of the board of trustees of the institution, W. F. Tuttle, Springfield, H. K. Humes, Urbana and Lester Bidwell, London, held at the hospital, Thursday afternoon.

The action of the management in engaging a farmer to cultivate the property is believed to have resulted from the recent joint commissioners' meeting.

The board of trustees expects to appoint a new superintendent at the next meeting, the first Wednesday in July. Dr. C. E. M. Finney, medical head of the hospital, told trustees that he has two applications which he will turn over to them at the meeting. Four cows purchased recently are supplying the hospital with milk, it is said, answering the criticism made by commissioners that the dairy herd had been sold and that the hospital was purchasing all the milk used.

Enough vegetables should be produced on the farm this year to supply the needs of the hospital and enough will be canned to materially reduce the operating costs this winter.

WORK IS BEGUN TO CLEAR BUCKEYE LAKE

Buckeye Lake, June 16.—Buckeye Lake park, over which a vigorous tornado whirled Sunday afternoon, now stands cleared or ready for the salvage crews so far as the north and east sides of the reservation are concerned. Along the south edge and on west practically nothing was touched. One can look west from the Fisher boat pier and not detect any evidence of the worst storm known to the resort.

General Manager F. C. Leonard has a course of action laid down and it calls for a clearance that will lead to modern reconstruction in due time on all of the available space and immediate restoration of some of the concessions.

T. Williamson, of Cedarville, niece of the bride. Both little tots wore white organdie, and carried baskets of pink rose petals. Next came the little Misses Lucille and Ada Stroup, nieces of the bride, dressed in white organdie, who drew the ribbons, forming the bridal pathway.

Upon the entrance of the bridal party Miss Louise Bone, at the piano, played the Lohengrin wedding march blending into "I Love You Truly" which she played softly while the vows were read.

Mrs. Zimmerman's travelling outfit was a suit or orchid shade, with a becoming hat of gray and orchid with foot wear and other accessories of gray.

The bride and bridegroom entered together, the procession being met at the altar by the officiating clergyman. The bride's gown, of white satin, was fashioned with draperies of white silk lace and pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, and sweet peas.

The altar, where the service took place, was formed by ferns, roses and honeysuckle, interlaced, forming a canopy. The ring ceremony was solemnized.

Immediately following the ceremony dinner was served the guests and bridal party, covers for twelve being laid at the bride's table. The colors of pink and white were effectively carried out in the appointments of the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman left Wednesday evening at 11 o'clock, for the east, where they will join Mr. and Mrs. Dodge Curlls, of Sycamore, O., who were married at the same hour as Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman. ### CHURCH WEDDING SOLEMNIZED FRIDAY

At four o'clock Friday afternoon in the presence of two hundred and fifty invited guests, the marriage of Miss Miriam Galloway, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Galloway, of North Galloway Street, to Mr. Marshall Luther Barker, of Dayton, was solemnized at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Ferns, palms and honeysuckle were combined in forming attractive decorations for the church, strands of honeysuckle being twined on the railing of the church chancel, while ferns, palms and other potted plants were banked within the altar. On either end a tall wicker basket of honeysuckle was placed.

The church pews reserved for members of the family and the bridal party, were designated by ropes of honeysuckle and white satin ribbons. Preceding the ceremony Miss Ina Jackson sang "Yesterday and Today," and "At Dawning" by Cadman, accompanied by Miss Hazel Flagg. After the two vocal numbers Miss Flagg blended into the Lohengrin wedding march, which she played upon the entrance of the bridal procession, softly playing "Tell Me Why" during the service.

The bridal procession was led by the ushers, Messrs. Spencer Weber, and Hershall Bowyer, of Cincinnati, and J. C. H. Johnson, of Hamilton, and Alfred Johnson of Dayton.

The four bridesmaids walked next, each wearing dresses of rainbow colors, fashioned similarly. Miss Theresa Folger, of Dayton, wore yellow organdie, Miss Agnes Russell, of Chicago, orchid, Miss Grace Van Kirk, of Los Angeles, apple green, and Miss Clara Olney, of Boston, blue. All carried huge bouquets of gay garden flowers in the various colors.

Mrs. Herbert Osborne, of Dayton, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor walked next, wearing her bridal gown, of white organdie. Miss Margaret Galloway, sister of the bride, came next, wearing a dainty gown of green and gold and salmon pink organdie. Mrs. Osborne and Miss Galloway both carried fern.

The ring bearer was little Miss Gertrude Hager Galloway, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galloway of Chicago, while the flower girl was little Miss Rebecca Galloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Galloway both little tots wearing white organdie frocks with green sashes.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. Her dress of white canton crepe was fashioned in simple lines, becoming her charming beauty. Her veil of tulle, caught with orange blossoms, fell to the hem of her gown, and she carried a shower of bride's roses and valley lilies.

The bride and her attendants were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Mr. Vernon Barker of Dayton. The double ring ceremony was performed in uniting the couple.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Galloway home, one hundred and fifty guests being received by Mr. and Mrs. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Galloway and Dr. F. Dale Barker, of Dayton, father of the bridegroom.

At seven o'clock, a wedding dinner was served, the members of the bridal party, and the two immediate families. Green and white, the colors, predominating in the decorations of the church, were carried out in the decoration of the Galloway home, and the appointments of the dinner. Covers were laid at two tables, members of the bridal party being seated at one table, where a miniature wedding procession, formed an effective centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker will leave Friday evening for a short wedding trip and are expected to return soon, and will spend two weeks at the Galloway cottage on the Miami river. Mrs. Barker wore away a handsome traveling suit of pique twill, with a blouse of American Beauty shade, with a blue hat, with American beauty touches.

They will reside at 312 North Second Street, Hamilton, Ohio. Mrs. Barker is one of the popular young women in the social circle of the city and is a graduate of Denison University, with the class of 1921. Mr. Barker is a graduate of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, New York, and attended Denison University for two years. He is connected with the Hoover-Owens and Rentschler Company, at Hamilton.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception included, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galloway, of Chicago, Miss Frances Grogan, of Parkersburg, W. ### ALL IS PEACEFUL AT ANTIOCH AFTER NIGHT OF FUN

All is still and peaceful tonight in the girls' dormitory at Antioch College.

The beat of the lamb is heard no more, echoing through the corridors and frightening faint-hearted co-eds. By the same token, the moo of the bovine is absent from the college chapel in Kelly Hall, her mournful bleating heard no more, ricocheting against the historic walls of the building, and only her hoofprints on the glossy floor to signify her recent departure.

The janitor held a round-up on the campus Friday morning and collected the stray stock and led them from the buildings. Tonight they are browsing peacefully, with apparently no memory of a nightmare created by college boys playing ancient college pranks in the same old way.

The animals evidently unwillingly found their way into the college buildings sometime between sundown Thursday evening and sunrise Friday morning. The sheep are used as mowers of the campus grass. It is their duty to see that the lawns are kept neatly trimmed. Thursday night or early Friday morning however, they found a new mission in life.

Mid-night prowlers made up of college students tried to turn the little college town upside down, but citizens and college officials laughed them out of it.

In the village, the rays of the warm June sun awoke to find the Rev. Mr. Gaehr with his sign out in front of his residence as agent for the Western Ohio Creamery. It had been transferred from the cream station down the street. A case of pictures showing college graduates was deposited on the front steps of a church. Other signs were switched but soon laughingly returned to their original owners.

"The boys were just having harmless fun, and there's not going to be any investigation about it," said a Yellow Springs business man, and college officials seem to hold the same view.

BERLIN SPENDS MADLY TO DODGE REPARATION TAX.

Although there is rather general agreement among economists studying European conditions that Germany cannot continue to meet the reparations demands of the Allies, there is more surface extravagance, more free spending visible to the naked eye in Berlin than in any capital in Europe. Americans who will return this year, most of them after hasty, superficial observation of conditions in the German metropolis, are apt to bring with them a critical estimate of Germany's ability to pay.

German thrift has given way in many places to German extravagance. True, Unter den Linden, seems decidedly run down at the heels, but the natives who traverse its famous lengths are not, as a rule. A score of theaters are running to better business than a majority of those on Broadway.

Life in the cafes is active, if not gay. Whether one drops in the garish Palais de Danse, built by the Kaiser's demand to rival the night places of Montmartre, or travels over to the north end to explore the less pretentious places, where gather the shop girls and clerks, the result is much the same. There are distinctions as to dress and the quality of wine, but everywhere there are crowds. The visitor is informed that morality is not entrenched as before Von Kluck started for Paris. Tables are hard to obtain. Restaurants are well appointed, well patronized and there is no dearth of food. Streets in the retail shopping areas are thronged throughout the day. Long lines of taxis at prominent corners testify to much patronage even though the tariff is thirty times what the meter records. Unlike the sadly beautiful Vienna, streets are well lighted.

The Berlin visitor's eyes encounter considerable evidence of building construction. The subway, started a decade ago, is progressing with hitherto unknown speed. A "skyscraper" is under construction for one of the banking houses. Store fronts are being torn away to be replaced by more pretentious facades. Outside Berlin, factories are running, for the most part, at full time.

What is the answer, when Germany's government is talking inability to pay in all its notes to the Reparations Commission?

THE TWELVE GREATEST LIVING WOMEN.

One of the principal relaxations of the moment seems to be the choosing of a list of the twelve greatest living women in the United States. In some quarters the compiling is being done with a fierce earnestness that betokens an exalted estimate of the task, while in others the names are being rattled off with a glibness that signifies intimate familiarity with the great. We ourselves have no intention of entering the contest, though we reserve all right. However, there are certain observations inevitably suggested by the results of the list-making to date.

One notices more than anything else that in most of the lists published the following condition holds true; that about half the women on them are not married, and that the remaining women who are have not so conducted themselves as to make possible the compiling of a list of twelve children of the twelve greatest women in the United States.

This whole thing, naturally, is a question of definition. What is a "great" woman? There will be all sorts of answers, of course. But can there be any wellrounded definition of greatness in a woman which takes no cognizance of any of the qualities peculiar to the sex? Is the function of bearing children and teaching them to walk in the ways of wisdom, of being in all ways the center of the time-honored institution, the family, of so little account that the list of twelve may be made up of women placed there because they have won recognition in politics, sociology, philanthropy or the arts, and none because she represents the functions unique to her sex. If that be so, greatness in a woman is not a thing to be universally emulated, else would the earth be depopulated and the last surviving male octogenarians (all the women then being outlived) go to their final resting places without toes or heels to their socks.—Public Ledger.

STEEL WORKING HOURS.

For the sake of American industry, it is hoped that something will come of the effort to abolish the 12-hour working day in the steel industry. The evil complained of is one of long standing, assailed by many reformers and particularly criticized by the Interchurch Movement. To all criticisms heretofore the steel executives have answered that the long working day was unavoidable in many departments of their industry, and that the workmen preferred it. They seem willing now to reconsider the matter, agreeing to have the whole subject investigated scientifically by a committee of steel men.

The arguments for such long hours have never been entirely convincing to outsiders. Other industries have not found a 12-hour day necessary. The eight-hour day is now accepted as normal almost everywhere else. The men may "prefer the 12-hour day" to a shorter day with shorter pay, but it is inconceivable that any class of workmen would prefer a long day to a short one on general principles, or that they could not do more per hour if they worked fewer hours a day. Eventually, no doubt, the continuous operation of plants for 24 hours a day will change from two shifts to three.

ALTITUDE FOR SPEECH.

A mute boy, aged six, taken up in an airplane at Atlantic City, started talking and continued it when he returned to earth. He is still somewhat behind in the speech game, but is expected soon to catch up. His parents are going to facilitate the process by sending him up in a plane regularly with a tutor. It seems that he has readier command of his vocal organs when among the clouds.

There may be possibilities along this line for others of defective or retarded speech, young or old. For the general run of people, though, the process is not to be commended. There is altogether too much talk in the world as it is, without encouraging airy persiflage in this way.

If the conversational speed and pressure of the human race could be diminished by the opposite process of taking people down deep shafts in the earth, there would be something to it. Miners, it may be observed, are seldom garrulous.

THE WAY YOU LOSE

Often those who fail win. No one ever wins all the time. But many of those who fail, win—in time.

There is something infinitely big and fine and inspiring about a good loser. The three hundred brave men at the Pass of Thermopylae who saw certain failure rushing fast upon them and driving them to their death never flinched, never faltered. They lost—but only to win on into the centuries and to inspire millions to big deeds and great sacrifices when their names and their deed had become ancient history.

No one ever wins all the time. Baseball is one of the greatest sports of all times. Mighty poor in something vital is the man or woman who doesn't appreciate this game. And daily on the baseball diamonds there is revealed as fine a bunch of good losers as ever walked or breathed. For one side has to lose every game that is played.

No one ever wins all the time. It's the way you lose that counts. So be a good loser always. Smile it out. Grit it out. Your chance will come again. Perhaps the very next time you will be a winner—because of the very thing you have learned by losing this time.

Everybody has been a miserable failure at something—or would be. The happy man is he who is a success at something that he can do well. You can smile, anyway. And if there is one thing that this old world needs, it is a great international army and navy of smilers. So remember—

No one ever wins all the time. It's the way that you lose that counts.

Letters To The Editor

Expressions of opinion set forth in this column must not be construed as being those of this paper. The Gazette and The Republican assume no responsibility for views expressed here, it being understood that opinions herein are those of the individual, to whom they are credited.

To the Editor

Dear Sir:—

Recently there appeared a news item in your valued columns concerning an offer of Bryan Farm, a tract of five hundred acres, of land, more or less, according to the will of John Bryan of Yellow Springs, to be presented to the people of Greene County for a fish and game preserve etc., with the stipulation positively expressed in the said will that "no religious services" be allowed on the premises, or words to that effect.

The writer believes it would be one of the greatest mistakes of those in authority, to receive this grant in the name of the Christian people of Greene County for the following reasons:

First, "the item of the will stipulating" that no religious services be allowed on the premises" is believed to be unconstitutional. Can any one be prohibited in holding religious services anywhere in God's open in this great free land of ours founded on principles of religious and civil liberties? How then could Greene County pass, on something that is a direct attack upon these liberties bought by the blood of our forefathers, of which we as citizens have been the inheritors?

Secondly; that while it may be very expedient and practical to have a tract of land for the purposes mentioned, a fish and game preserve, a recreational center, etc., and that while every natural appointment may be invitingly conducive toward these ends, would it not take a corps of guards to properly police it? Can this be met by any income from the farm itself? Could Greene County afford the additional tax for its maintenance? As I understand it, during the school year of 1922-1923, the course will have to be shortened, on account of lack of funds. How is it then that we can consider an additional expense to maintain a park to which many of the poorer folk have no way of getting, should this land be acquired. In this day of automobiles this park would be easily accessible to the owners of such vehicles, but how about the good folk who have not this advantage? The writer believes in the greater good to the larger number.

Thirdly; On account of this land being contiguous to the property of Antioch College, that institution has already in open meeting made overtures to the County Commissioners to lease it for an experimental farm, in agriculture and forestry in lieu of these courses in the college curriculum. Now would this plan exclude any other college in the county from a like privilege? How can you take a public institution and use it for private advantage? Will not Antioch College have to give all students who may apply from Greene County partial free tuition? A like condition obtains in the Stephens Girard College of Philadelphia, Pa. Fourthly; the greatest reason for not accepting this farm on the part of the people of Greene County, is the religious reason. If intent of the donor which is explicitly stated in the terms of the will be rightly interpreted, "no religious services can be held on the premises," is not this a direct slap in the face of the Christian people of Greene County, that we likewise disavow our belief in Almighty God? If by the proposed reception of this property it is to have signs posted all around, "God and His Worship keep out" or "Apply at the office for permission" not in real signs but in understanding of a sentiment like them, how can we the residents of this Christian community receive something which would immortalize such infidel statements?

Two Governors of this State have for religious reasons turned the same proposition down. Governor Cox and present Governor Davis. They may have other motives for so doing, but both have stated their reasons for its refusal in similar terms, viz., the religious.

If we believe the truth that God is the giver of every good gift, how in the name of common sense can we receive this gift from one who like all the rest of us are stewards of God's gifts, and purposely and deliberately leave God's name out of it entirely. The Word of God emphatically states "That whatsoever ye do, do all to the Glory of God." How can we receive this land in the face of this statement of Holy Writ and then expect God's blessing upon it. Why the very court records and county seal which would be placed upon the document recording the transaction would at the very beginning violate the terms of its reception for the reason that the Year of our Lord (Anno Domini) A. D. 1922 would be attached.

Let me say in conclusion, that as a citizen of Greene County; that as a Christian in a Christian Commonwealth, I must add my signature in protest to the County Commissioners, against receiving this property as proposed by the terms of this will.

Editor Gazette and Republican:

Your editorial of May 11th entitled "Our Sugar Trouble With Cuba" has come to our attention. There is just one point in your editorial which I would like to comment on.

You state that Cuba can raise enough sugar to supply our national domestic consumption. This is substantially correct. Cuba will raise this year a little more than 3,500,000 tons of sugar while the consumption of the United States is estimated at about 4,500,000 tons. However the American market, under the old tariff of $1.00 per hundred pounds was sufficiently protected to allow the beet sugar interests in this country to pay enormous dividends on their investments. Increasing the tax from $1.00 to $1.60 per hundred pounds is taking money out of the pockets of the sugar consumers of the United States to the extent of $162,000,000 a year, only about half of which goes to the Government while the remainder goes to the beet sugar interests as a subsidy.

Regardless of the enormous quantity of sugar which Cuba grows, the world conditions in the sugar market are such that a large part of Cuba's sugar is needed, and is being bought, to fill out the deficit in the sugar supply of European and other countries.

By increasing the tariff on sugar the United States menaces its trade with Cuba, its fourth largest customer, who in 1920 purchased over $500,000,000 worth of American goods.

Very Truly Yours,

T. J. ROSS, JR.,

On behalf of American Producers of Cuban Sugar.

Rippling Rhymes

WEEK END.

Oh, the week end in my cottage makes me feel as fine as silk; here I eat my humble pottage, swimming in denatured milk; now I feel that I'm in clover, and I sing in joyous tones, for the week of toil is over and I've drawn my eighteen bones. Here the week end's always found me since John Barleycorn was canned, with my smiling aunts around me, and my grandma pounding sand. Once when I had drawn my wages to the gin bazar I went, and progressed, by fluid stages, till I didn't have a cent. And my gentle aunts were weeping, and my grandma's heart was sore, as their vigils they were keeping, waiting at the cottage door. Ah, the sorrow and the grieving, as they waited there at home, as they watched me homeward weaving, with my whiskers full of foam. Still they say the liquor traffic by some skates is carried on; but my feelings are seraphic, for the old saloon is gone. And the swinging doors, I reckon, won't be swinging for a while, and the barkeep doesn't beckon, with his wide and winning smile. Happiness at last has found me, basking in my Sunday suits, while my seven aunts sit round me, and my grandma plays the flute.

MARS WILL BE CLOSER TO EARTH ON SUNDAY THAN ANY TIME SINCE 1909

Mr. Earth, meet Mr. Mars.

Earthly beings are anticipating a pleasant little chat with the populace of Mars, Sunday, when that planet will be crowding up chummy with this vale of tears.

Mars is figuring on taking a close look at Xenians Sunday evening, when the planet will be 8,000,000 miles nearer the earth than it was a month ago. Which proves that Mars is not so slow after all.

The little flirtation between Mars and Earth will not be staged at such proximity as that for Mars' brush in this direction will still leave that planet 42,359,000 miles away or out of earshot, with no danger of any secrets being passed.

In fact Mars will still be so far away that it would take 24 1-2 years to travel to the planet in an airplane with a speed of 200 miles an hour. And Mars will be closer then than it has been since 1909 and the visit will be short-lived at that.

Since Captain Claude Collins planned to ride to Mars on a sky-rocket no earth being has seriously contemplated such a social call. What an adventuressome Gulliver might find there is a matter of interesting conjecture. A cartoonist who reigned in popular acclaim for a time pictured a Mars visitor as a peaked individual with a long head and a super-educational named "Skygack."

A famous French medium, Made-moiselle Helene Smith, however, claims to have projected her soul to Mars. There she saw: "Carriages without horses or wheels, emitting sparks as they glided by; houses with fountains on the roofs; a cradle having for curtains an angel made of iron with outstretched wings."

She also brought back the latest fashion notes: "There people were much like the inhabitants of the earth, save that both sexes wore the same kind of clothes—trousers, very ample and long blouses drawn tight about the waist and decorated with various designs."

But H. G. Wells doesn't think much of the medium's description. In his "War of the Worlds" he said the Martians resembled cuttlefish with round, gray bodies and "sort of faces." Edmund Perrier, a Parisian scientist, constructed the most detailed picture of the inhabitants. The Martian, according to him, bore some resemblance to man, but he had tremendous ears, a large chest and thin legs, with scarcely any neck at all.

In America the greatest exponent of the theory that Mars is inhabited was the late Professor Percival Lo-

With them the telephone and kinetoscope are things of the by-gone past, preserved with veneration in museums as relics of the clumsy contrivances of the simple childhood of the race."

Other scientists disagree. They think there is nothing but very little water and a thin layer of air on the planet. "There has been absolutely no determination of life on Mars," says Dr. C. S. Barin of Columbia University.

TRACTION COMPANY WILL MOVE TRACKS IF CITY WILL PAVE

That the Springfield and Xenia Traction Company will move its tracks on North Detroit Street beyond the end of the present paving line into the middle of the street if the city will agree to pay for the paving between the tracks, was the proposition submitted to the City Commissioners Thursday night by officials of the company.

No action on the proposition was taken at the meeting Thursday night but another special meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, at which time it is expected that an agreement will be reached to permit the proposed paving schedule to be carried out. In the meantime it is thought that the City Commissioners will ask County Commissioners for a further outlay from the two mile road fund to bear the burden of such added expense if the plan is agreed upon.

The paving of that section of the street beyond the present paving line at Fairground avenue to the corporate limits has been hanging fire while traction officials and the City Commission have been differing over the issue of moving the tracks to the center of the street. County Commissioners made it possible for the paving work to be done by offering the city financial aid from the two mill road fund in order that further paving could be carried out by the county beyond the corporate limits without an intervening space of no paving.

City Commissioners told traction officials that the company would have to move its tracks from the east side of the street to the center before the paving work is done. The traction officials demurred because of the expense, alleging that the company was unable to stand the cost of moving the tracks to the crown of the street and then paying the usual paving costs for paving the strip occupied by the tracks. The traction company does not have a franchise to operate over that section of the street the original franchise having expired.

City Commissioners took the stand that if the street is to be paved the electric tracks should be moved to the center, thus giving property on each side of the street equal advantage, as the tracks now run at the edge of the street and directly in front of residences. The traction officials offered to compromise Thursday night by moving the tracks to the center of the street under the provision that the city do the paving at its own expense. This plan may be followed if the city can finance the extra paving, it is said.

FRACTURES HIP WHILE LEAVING CHURCH SERVICE

Miss Sallie Spahr, who makes her home with her brother, Dr. D. E. Spahr, of East Main street, received a fracture of her right hip, when she fell Thursday night, while leaving church at Germantown, Ohio, where she and Dr. Spahr have been visiting for the past week. Dr. Spahr and Miss Spahr had been visiting Dr. Spahr's son, Prof. Elmer Spahr, and it was while the party were attending the church services that the accident happened.

Dr. Spahr returned to Germantown, Thursday and brought Miss Spahr to the McClellan Hospital in this city. In an ambulance. She was reported resting comfortably, although the injury is considered a serious one.

SORORITIES ARE AGAIN PERMITTED AT WESLEYAN

Delaware, June 16.—Sororities are again permitted to enter Ohio Wesleyan University as the result of favorable action taken upon the question at the annual commencement meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The trustees voted to rescind the action taken in 1913 prohibiting sororities at the University and appointed a joint committee of trustees and faculty members to draw up regulations governing the abolishment of sororities and women clubs.

Sororities were first prohibited at Ohio Wesleyan in 1884 when the then existing chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma withdrew from the University. Years later local sororities were organized but these were abolished in 1913.

BEAUTY CHATS

HANDY COSMETICS

Do you approve of lip sticks, powder leaves and all the other paraphernalia a woman tucks into her purse to repair the ravages to her beauty while she shops, goes to theaters or perhaps even to an office?

I don't know whether I approve of all these things or not. When I see a fresh faced, pretty little thing in a street car or at the telephone switch-board or an office, her nose lavendered with powder, her cheeks, blue-red with rouge and her mouth carmine from a lipstick, I confess I long to scrub her clean again with very hot water and a stiff complexion brush.

On the other hand, I dislike the women who scorn such feminine vanities, who go about with shiny noses and hair not as nicely combed as it might be. Their unmanicured nails are apt to show quarter moons of dirt, and their complexions are often sallow. They so distressingly often neglect the fundamentals of health and beauty as well as its outward frivolities!

Some cosmetics are surely quite all right to carry. A compact little powder case and puff will take off an unsightly shine from the nose, and scrub off a lot of the dust that simply collects over the course of the day. A lip stick will keep the lips soft and smooth in bad weather, it need not be tinted, but only pure white cream. Tiny manicure implements come in handy too. But rouge and eyebrow pencils are for very special occasions and should have no place in the feminine purse.

Lois—If the nose is shiny, apply a simple astringent such as one of the toilette waters. Instead of penciling your brows, why not encourage a new growth? This is possible as it is evident that the roots of the hair were not destroyed. I shall be glad to mail you the formula for an excellent tonic for the lashes and brows, on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

Pearl—In using the hand vibrator, there should be a light touch for the face and neck, but the scalp and any other part of the body does not require this care. The reason for this is the fact that the vibrator is heavy and the operator does not realize how deeply the treatment penetrates. To avoid it when using the vibrator on face and throat, hold it in a stationary position and run the face over the tip of the nozzle, just touching it enough to make the skin tingle. The scalp is greatly benefited by the deep treatments.

Tomorrow—Keeping Slender.

FOUR DANCING FEET

BY JANE PHLEPS

GERTIE'S LAST NIGHT AT THE OLYMPIC Chapter 72

"Hello, Ma! Where's the girls?" Tim had come home. His entrance had been effected in regular boy fashion, and he had emphasized his greeting to his mother by throwing both arms about her, and dancing her about the kitchen until she begged him to stop and let her get her breath.

"It's good for sore eyes to see you, Timmie dear! But why didn't you write you was comin'?"

"Wanted to surprise you! See if you was glad to see me. Say, Gert, you're somelucky girl! Gee! But that ranch is some place to live! Believe me, I know what I'm talking about. Tom's coming in a few days, had business in Chicago, so put me on the train and sent me on. Gave me money to go into the dining car to all my meals, and I had a berth in the sleeping car. I'm some little traveler, I am! Say, if you want to know anything about how to act on the cars just ask me!"

There was no need to ask how Tim felt, he was the picture of health brown and sturdy.

"Tom's fixing things fine for you, Gertie. I promised not to tell, so don't ask any questions, but your in luck! Say, Ma, I'm going to be a rancher like Tom when I get grown up, and have a Chink and animals and everything like he does only you are going to be my housekeeper, eh, Ma? How'd you like that?"

"Fine, sonny!"

"Then that's fixed!! I killed a snake and brought you his skin, and a horned toad, and—"

"Bless the boy—wasn't you scared of the snake?"

"Scared! Not on your life! Boys don't get scared of things on a ranch I hated to leave my pony something awful I cried once when there wasn't anyone looking. The Chink caught me, and I was awful scared, but he pretended he didn't see. He's some Chink! I learned a lot from him, can talk Chink talk too. Just wait till the boys hear me."

All day he kept them interested and laughing. Gertie began to have some idea what a ranch was like in listening to him. Mrs. Cummings forgot how she had missed him, and gloried in his chatter, admiring the horned toad and the snake skin to his heart's content.

"The grub was awful good," he told them at dinner, "but nobody can beat you, Ma, when it comes to cooking. I told Mrs. Black so too. They had more different things, but they didn't taste no better. I guess I drunk five quarts of milk a day, Ma, and eat! You never saw the way I put things away. Tom said my legs were hollow, and the Chink pinched me to see."

"How'd we ever live without him, Jennie asked after he had gone to bed."

"He sure is lively!" his mother smiled. "He'll keep us from missing Gertie too much. It's almost like being out there to hear him tell about it."

Tom would be with them the next day. The day after Gertie was to be married.

The night before she received Tom's message telling when he would arrive had been her last at the Olympic. She had been surprised and delighted by the gift of a dozen solid silver spoons from Fagin, and a wonderful box of flowers from the girls in the revue. It had been quite wonderful—the scene of the dressing room—the girls all congratulating her, everyone so kind and Fagin beaming on them all.

"I felt like I was a real actress or something when they all made such a fuss over me, and I couldn't keep the tears back when the girls gave me the flowers. I never thought they liked me very well because I had the solo dances."

"People are mostly kind-hearted," Mrs. Cummings said as she helped arrange the flowers. "These will keep until after you are married."

"They make the room lovely!" Gertie replied. "Tom will be pleased that everyone was so nice to me."

Others remembered Gertie too even though she was to be so quietly married. The teacher sent her a pretty negligee with a cute little cap to match. Lilly gave her a pair of white kid gloves, and some of the more intimate neighbors clubbed together and bought her a lamp.

Her new trunk was partly packed, everything would be put in before they went to bed. She was to be married in her traveling dress. It hung, with her hat, in the closet. Mrs. Cummings had declared that on Gertie's last day at home nothing but necessary work should be done. Yet they all managed to keep busy—until Tom came. Then he carried Gertie off for a ride in the park, longing to have her to himself for a bit.

"Don't stay too long, Tom. You'll soon have her all the time," Mrs. Cummings called after them.
